Maintenance of endoplasmic reticulum (ER) proteostasis is controlled by a dynamic signaling network known as the unfolded protein response (UPR). IRE1 is an ER-located kinase and endoribonuclease that operates as a major ER stress transducer, mediating the establishment of adaptive and pro-apoptotic programs. Here, Hetz and Papa discuss The Unfolded Protein Response and Cellular Stress, Part A ...

Unfolded protein response - Wikipedia

The unfolded protein response (UPR) is a cellular stress response related to the endoplasmic reticulum (ER) stress. It is a stress response that has been found to be conserved between all mammalian species, as well as yeast and worm organisms. This article focuses on the mammalian response. The UPR is activated in response to an accumulation of unfolded or misfolded proteins in the lumen of the endoplasmic reticulum.
